Credicorp Slice report: accountancy fees and filing season

By CM Beyer Commercial Research Desk - Commercial research editor - Updated 11 July 2026

How directors can think about spreading professional fees without missing filing and tax work.

Accounts, tax returns and advisory work can bunch into one bill. A director should separate timing pressure from a weaker margin before choosing any finance route.

Credicorp Slice may fit a professional-fee invoice where the service keeps the company compliant. The product fit comes from the shape of the cost, not from the page label.

Filing deadlines do not move because cash is tight. Keep the accountant paid and records moving. Recheck the linked product and public-source pages before relying on the note.

For Credicorp Slice, start with the supplier invoice. If there is no defined bill to spread, it is probably the wrong route.
