Credicorp Slice report: shop fit-out staged bills

By CM Beyer Commercial Research Desk - Commercial research editor - Updated 11 July 2026

A note on using instalments for a contained fit-out bill while keeping opening cash intact.

A shop fit-out can involve staged invoices before the shop reopens or starts trading. Approval is never the point by itself; the useful test is whether the company can repay without creating the next gap.

Credicorp Slice may fit one supplier bill where the company wants to spread a contained fit-out cost. If the same pressure repeats, pause and compare terms, reserves or a facility before using a one-off fix.

Do not confuse fit-out cost with working capital. You still need cash for opening stock and payroll. The external links keep the page anchored to public material rather than sales copy.

For Credicorp Slice, start with the supplier invoice. If there is no defined bill to spread, it is probably the wrong route.
