Credicorp Slice report: splitting a supplier invoice

By CM Beyer Commercial Research Desk - Commercial research editor - Updated 11 July 2026

How to compare Slice when a supplier bill is real, due and easier to manage in instalments.

A supplier invoice can be affordable overall but awkward as one payment. Approval is never the point by itself; the useful test is whether the company can repay without creating the next gap.

Credicorp Slice is the product to compare when the problem is one supplier bill rather than a general cash buffer. If the same pressure repeats, pause and compare terms, reserves or a facility before using a one-off fix.

Check the total cost before agreeing. Instalments should match expected trading cash. The external links keep the page anchored to public material rather than sales copy.

For Credicorp Slice, start with the supplier invoice. If there is no defined bill to spread, it is probably the wrong route.
